1. About this policy

This Cookie Policy explains how Paytrex Payment Solutions uses cookies and similar technologies on www.paytrex.co.uk. It should be read alongside our Privacy Policy.

2. What are cookies and similar technologies?

Cookies are small data files stored on or accessed from a device when a website is used. Similar technologies can include local storage, pixels, tags and other tools that store information on, or access information from, a user's device.

3. Categories we may use

Strictly necessary. Technologies required for core website operation, security, network management, fraud prevention, remembering privacy choices or providing a service specifically requested by the user.

Functional. Technologies that remember optional preferences or enable enhanced website functionality.

Analytics. Technologies that help us understand website usage and performance, such as visits, navigation and errors, so that we can improve the site.

Advertising or social media. Technologies that may be used to measure campaigns, personalise advertising or enable third-party social-media features, if Paytrex uses these services.

4. Consent and control

Where the law requires consent, Paytrex should obtain a clear choice before using non-essential cookies or similar technologies. Rejecting non-essential technologies should be as straightforward as accepting them. Strictly necessary technologies may be used without consent where the applicable exemption applies.

You can change choices through the website's cookie settings where available and can also use browser controls to block or delete cookies. Blocking strictly necessary technologies may affect website functionality.

5. Cookie details

The exact cookies and similar technologies in use can change as our website and suppliers change. Paytrex should maintain a current cookie inventory identifying, for each relevant technology, its provider, purpose, category and duration. The cookie banner or preference centre should reflect that live inventory.

Before publication, the website should be scanned and this section or the preference centre populated with the actual cookie names, providers and lifetimes. This policy deliberately does not invent cookies that may not be present on the Paytrex website.

6. Third parties and international processing

Some website technologies may be supplied by third parties. Those organisations may receive device or usage information and may act as processors or independent controllers depending on the service. Where personal data is transferred outside the UK, appropriate safeguards will be used where required.

7. Changes and contact

We may update this Cookie Policy when our website, technologies, suppliers or legal requirements change. Questions can be sent to info@paytrex.co.uk.

Document control note: This document is drafted for Paytrex Payment Solutions based on the operating information supplied. It should be reviewed against Paytrex's actual data flows, suppliers, cookie scan and regulated-provider arrangements before publication.
